Welcome to the 24th Annual Public Interest Auction

Welcome to the Palace Theatre for the 24th Annual Public Interest Auction and thank you for joining us tonight. Your support helps make it possible for the Syracuse Public Interest Network to achieve our goal of spreading awareness and education of public interest work. Your support also enables our students to pursue positions in the public interest sector, helping make our community, and communities touched by our students across the US, better places to live and thrive.

The generosity of businesses, corporations, faculty, staff, administrators, alumni, student groups and my amazing committee have overwhelmed me during this process. It is not only a testament to the emphasis the College of law places on public interest work, but also to the unwavering dedication of the surrounding community to Syracuse University.

Take a moment tonight to speak to a Fellow or read their biographies on the projection screen; see the long reach SU Law has and the communities we impact. This is all thanks to you! So raise your bid paddle tonight, and make sure you walk out of here with that item you’ve been eying. Thank you for helping make this year’s auction a success!

Bidding Procedures

Silent Auction

When bidding on an item in the silent auction, please write on the bid sheet your bid paddle number, name, phone number, email address, and the amount of your bid. Bid sheets have a minimum bid and a minimum increase for each auction item. Your bid will only be valid if it is legible and you abide by these minimums. Bidding constitutes a legal contract to purchase that silent auction item for the amount you stated if your bid is the highest bid. The last highest valid bid at the conclusion of the silent auction is the winning bid. The Silver Silent Auction closes at 7:30. The Gold Silent Auction closes at 7:45. Payment is due for your item at the conclusion of the respective auction.

Live Auction

If you would like to bid on an item in the Live Auction, raise your paddle and wait for the Auctioneer to recognize your bid. If you are the highest bidder, an Auction volunteer will write down your paddle number, and then provide you with information about payment and how to receive your item. Payment is due at the conclusion of the Live Auction.
